

In Trailblazers: The New Zealand Story, Roger Rawlinson readies his nets for the next day's catch under New Zealand's Quota Management System, which helped save the nation's fisheries from the brink of collapse.